2013-2014 DOMESTIC VIOLENCE RESEARCH & ADVOCACY FELLOWSHIP APPLICATION

Application Deadline: March 15, 2013

The Fellowship will benefit a rising first or second year Delaware Widener Law student. It is anticipated that the student will devote 12-15 hours each week during both the fall and the spring semesters to research, advocacy, and outreach in the area of domestic violence. The student fellow will work on a variety of projects in the area of domestic violence including the drafting of bench books and/or similar materials for attorneys handling domestic violence cases, general research with regard to domestic violence, and legislative drafting. The student will also engage in outreach to area domestic violence centers and will participate in educational programs for survivors of domestic abuse. To apply for the 2013-2014 Domestic Violence Research & Advocacy Fellowship, you must complete this application in its entirety and submit it along with the following materials:

- ❑ Professional Resume
- ❑ One-page statement explaining in detail why the committee should select you as the recipient based on the criteria
