Law school grads from as far away as Florida and New York recently made the trip back to Central Pennsylvania to share in a milestone event. The Class of 1996 held it's ten year reunion November 4, 2006. It was a night filled with "good friends having a good time," according to Cheryl Brown.

Over 20 alums and guests reconnected over fine food and spirits at Scott's Grille in downtown Harrisburg. "It was sort of like a group of combat veterans getting together after the war -- we'd all been through it together and bonded in the process -- and it was sure interesting to see law school from a 10-year rear view mirror," noted Doug Wolfberg. The close-knit comrades will look back on this festive night fondly ten years from now at their 20 year reunion. Sharing old memories led to building new ones on this celebratory evening.

Congratulations on your success, Class of 1996!
