SUPPLEMENT: Coffee, Seligman & Sale, Federal Securities Laws: Selected Statutes, Rules & Forms, 2008 (Foundation, 2008 ed., ISBN 978-1-59941-527-7) OR 2009 ed. if available Note about the supplement: You may wish to consider not buying the supplement, since most, if not all, of the supplemental materials are readily available via the Internet. There are two possible significant drawbacks, however: (1) while the exam is completely open book (including the Internet), you'll absolutely need to have ready access to the supplemental materials, and you may find it easier to work with the printed volume, and (2) you'll need to refer to	THURS., 8-20 1. Make sure that you have access to your CampusCruiser email account. Communication of information about assignments and materials from class will be conducted by email through the course web site on CampusCruiser. 2. Read Cox, Hillman & Langevoort, pp. 1 – 24, 93 – 113. In our first class we will not discuss problems 3-1 and 3-2 (p. 108 in the casebook), but Professor Hamermesh will ask for volunteers to prepare a short written answer to these problems (one question per volunteer) and to circulate the answers to the class by mid-day on Tuesday, August 25. 3. Visit www.sec.gov (the SEC's home web page) and (i) under the heading "Regulatory Actions," go to the Proposed Rules page and check a sample rule proposal; (ii) go to the Final Rules page and check a sample final rule adoption; (iii) under the heading "Divisions/Offices," go to Enforcement and check a sample federal court action and a sample with a "order in this matter;" (iv) go to
